OBITUARY

Mrs. H. J. Ball, Cappon

Eliza May Stevens, wife of of Harley J. Ball was born in Girard, Pa., June 13, 1872 and passed away at her home in Oyen district July 10, 1929.

Her illness covering over a period of nearly two years, but confined to her bed for the last ten weeks, where she was a patient sufferer and trusting faithfully in her Saviour to the end. She was one of the first homesteaders of this district having lived here for the past nineteen years, and by her loving kindness had endeared herself to the whole community.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her husband, Harley J. Ball, two sons, Forest G. and J. M. of Oyen, two daughters, Martha L. Gullickson of Seattle, Wash., and Bernice V. Smart of Oyen, an adopted daughter, Helen Ruth Ball still at home, seventeen grandchildren, besides an aged father, both Stevens of Seattle, Wash., two brothers, Frank L. Stevens of Conneaut, O., John, P. Stevens of Albion, Pa., and one sister, Alice H. Hill of Conneaut, Ohio, who together with the family tenderly cared for her sister to the end, which came peacefully with all her family at her bedside.

Her Mother, one Sister and a Grand daughter preceded her to the Great Beyond.

The funeral was held at the home, Thursday, July 11, at 2 p.m., with Robert Marles, Pastor of the Union Church at Cappon, officiating. By request the minister sang beautifully two solos, "God will take care of You" and "Safe in the arms of Jesus". Other songs were, "God be with you till we meet Again" and "Blessed Assurance". The beautiful floral tributes and the large attendance at the funeral were mute evidence of the high esteem in which the deceased was held by her friends.

Interment was made in the Re-organized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints Cemetery, where grave side services were held.

The pall bearers were as follows: Harry McConnell, Jack Scarf, Abby Heath, Nathan Shaw, J. W. Johnston and L. B. Hoffer. She will be sadly missed by her friends and especially by her husband and children.

The cup was bitter
The sting severe
To part with one
We loved so dear
The trail was hard
But we will not complain,
But hope in Christ to meet again.

Oyen Summer Fair and Stampede

Preparations at the fair grounds for the fifteenth annual fair and stampede include the enlarging of the stampede arena and corrals, extending the former well in front of the grandstand. This work will be completed in ample time for the fair and will give spectators a better opportunity to witness the stampede events.

Posters advertising the fair and stampede were in the mail last week, and a tremendous, if not a record crowd is anticipated. While less favorable than other years for the exhibit of grains and grasses and garden stuff, it is expected that there will be fairly keen competition in these classes, and a heavy entry in other hall exhibits is looked for.

Meet your friends at the fair, Friday, July 26.

M. D. of Cereal

The council of the Municipal District of Cereal No. 242, met in the municipal office at Oyen, on Saturday, July 13, at 10:00 o'clock a.m.

Recommended That Government Take Over Control Of Radio Broadcasting in Canada

Should the Dominion government take over the control and ownership of radio broadcasting in this country? What part should the provincial governments play in it? To what extent should advertising be allowed in broadcasting programmes? Would the listener be willing to pay $3.00 a year license instead of $1.00? Should attacks on religious and on religious leaders over the radio be prevented by law? These were some of the questions brought to the fore in the final public hearing of the royal commission on radio broadcasting held in Ottawa. Mr. John Aird presided and the other members of the commission, C. A. Bowman and Dr. H. Frigon were present.

In an opening statement the chairman outlined the investigations the commission had conducted in Great Britain, France and Germany. It had held sessions in 24 cities across Canada and received the co-operation of the governments of the various provinces. Everywhere the commission had been received with great cordiality.

Following the meeting, at which representatives were nominated by the All-Canadian Congress of Labor and the Canadian Legion of the Imperial Empire Service League, the commission will at once begin the preparation of its report. It may be available about the end of the month.

The All-Canadian Congress of Labor came out flatly for the government taking over the broadcasting stations, elimination of advertising from the programmes and making the listener-in pay the upkeep by license. The brief presented by W. T. Burford, made the following recommendations:

That the present commission be continued or a similar one be established vested with complete administrative control of broadcasting. The radio telegraph branch of the department of mines should be added into a department of communications, having control of all electrical communication services (land telephone, radio-telephone, and radio-telegram), in Canada. All broadcasting stations be owned, controlled and operated by the Dominion government through the department of communication and the radio commission. The department of communications be empowered by legislation to make use of all patented apparatus at an arbitrated valuation for the national purpose of broadcasting.

An advisory council, widely representative of purely Canadian interests, be appointed to assist the Dominion in the collection of educational and other broadcast material and to ensure freedom of speech on questions of public interest.

The Canadian Legion wanted a broadcasting organization that would develop imperial patriotism and Canadian culture. J. A. McMichael, in presenting the brief for private ownership of Canadian broadcasting stations had demonstrated that they could not compete with the United States stations. Canadians were being overwhelmed with foreign programmes charged with propaganda.

The situation could be met, the Legion thought, by federal government ownership, and operation by a directorate in which the provinces would have representation. The Canadian broadcasting service should lead the way in developing Canadian culture in all the arts. Every opportunity should be taken to exchange broadcasting programmes with those of the British Isles.

Safety On The Farm

Guards and Protective Devices Are Needed On Farm Machinery

With the present state of safety on highways and in factory, it is a little surprising that no more attention is being given to safety on the farm.

About this time of the year it is not unusual to read of farm boys and men being caught in the wheels of tractors or under the sharp edges of farming implements and being killed or injured.

In spite of the general attention that is being paid to safety devices, manufacturers seem to be giving less and less attention to guards and protective devices on machinery designed for use on the farm.

Few tractors are manufactured that provide adequate protection for the operator. The result is that farm accidents apparently are increasing. A sudden jolt against a stump or stone, and the operator is thrown under the sharp edges of disc or plow or harrow to be mangled and maimed.

It seems to be a little problem that needs the attention of the safety councils. Just as the toll of hands and arms taken by the corn sheller was reduced by safety devices, so accidents from the use of tractors may be reduced.

Chicago's New Cosmos

Seventy-Five-Story Skyscraper Will Stand On Steel Legs

The description of the new 75-story skyscraper in Chicago would have confirmed the Erewhonians in the fear lest machines might become human.

The new structure will rise to a height of 1,022 feet. It will have 8,000,000 square feet of office space, and will stand on steel legs, between which the Illinois Central Railway will run its electric trains in and out of the city.

A skyscraper on legs seems more plausible as the famous beast of the Apocryphe than any of the customary claimants.

It is interesting to compare this metal quadruped (or is it a poly-pod?) with the original Colossus, which had no more than 100 feet, and the ships that were alleged to pass between its legs would count for little at Lloyd's. This monster object counted as one of the seven wonders of the world, and even dreamed of the day when it would and steel unmaneuvered with greater totality of Shal.

Canada As Gold Producer

The value of gold production in Canada in 1928 was $39,000,000, placing Canada third among the countries of the world in gold production. Ontario came first of the provinces with a production value of $32,000,000, followed by British Columbia, Quebec, the Yukon, Manitoba, Alberta and Nova Scotia.

Bound To Succeed

The Experiences Of a Welsh Miner In Starting Settled in Canada

The experiences of William A. Pullman, a Welsh miner who, with his wife and nine children, has settled in the North country, are to the approbation of this country and should be an encouragement to those in the Old Country who think of emigrating.

Mr. Pullman was one of the party of miners who went to the prairie provinces last summer to help in the harvest, and he was so much impressed by what he saw of Canada that he determined to return with his family. But there were many difficulties at home, for he was out of work and had no money. Finally he arranged for emigration under the C.P.R. settlement plan, and the family have been placed on the farm of Egon Weir, in the township of Townsend. "There we have our home," said Mr. Pullman. "My boys and I have good positions, we are sure of three square meals a day, we are living in a wonderfully rich farming district, and, maybe when a year or so has passed we will take up our own farm and become independent and prosperous."

He has determined to keep the hope that his expectations will be realized. When Mr. J. M. Thomas comes on "top" of the new British government, he has determined to investigate the problem of migration to Canada, he will find thousands like Mr. Pullman, who have determined to leave the Wages of the country and to make their home here. The story of Mr. Pullman and many others will be told by the intention of raising trouble. — Mail and Empire.

Bay Line Open In Fall

Will Not Be Able To Handle Passenger Traffic Until End Of October

The Hudson Bay Railway will probably not be in condition to handle passenger traffic before the end of October, it was stated recently at the Department of Railways and Canals. The celebration of opening day by road driving in the golden apple will, it is expected, be delayed until next spring.

The chief cause of delay has been the necessity of fighting bush fires. Difficulty in taking sand from frozen gravel pits this spring also slowed up the construction work.

Two thousand men are at work and eleven work trains are in operation. At least 1,000,000 yards of track will be required to put the road in shape.

The completion of the temporary line on March 28 last, enabled the Department to get in much of the materials and supplies required in connection with development work at Churchill. Two steamers are also being sent in by the department with further supplies for the terminal work so that no time will be lost on the port development as a result of the delay in ballasting operations.

The area of the oceans of the globe is 130,255,000 square miles.

Government Farm Loan Board

Farmers Taking Advantage Of Farm Facilities Become Shareholders On The Board

Five of the provinces of Canada, namely Alberta, British Columbia, Quebec, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick, have so far taken advantage of the Canadian Farm Loan Board, a Dominion Government organization formed to extend long term mortgage credit to Canadian farmers.

The farmer taking advantage of the new farm loan facilities in Canada must subscribe to the capital stock of the Canadian Farm Loan Board to the extent of five per cent. of the amount borrowed by him; the provinces in which the Farm Loan Act comes into force will subscribe to the extent of five per cent. of the total of loans in the province, while the Federal Government will also subscribe five per cent. Capital requirements of the Canadian Farm Loan Board, in addition to share capital, are provided for in authority given by the Dominion Government to issue bonds to an amount not exceeding twenty times the paid-up capital stock subscribed by borrowers. Loans are to be made on first mortgages on farm lands.

A feature of the scheme is that each borrower becomes a shareholder in the board in company with the Dominion and Provincial Governments and will receive his share of profits of the operations. Loans are made only to settlers furnishing adequate security.

Provincial boards have been appointed in these provinces with offices in the respective capital cities. All applications for loans in each province are first dealt with by the local boards following the inspection by the Canadian Farm Loan Board valuers of farm lands offered as security.

Interest, of the farmers in the operation of the board is shown by the fact that in answer to inquiries there were recently sent out 1,200 questionnaires to farmers in British Columbia and a similar number in Alberta. The celebration of opening day by road driving in the golden apple will, it is expected, be delayed until next spring.

Doom Of Mankind

American Engineer Thinks African Tsetse Fly Will Be The Cause

The long-heralded extermination of the tsetse fly by insects has found a new champion in Dr. Roderic H. Bates, director of visual education in the Indianapolis public schools, but Dr. Bates has a step further than his predecessors in the prophetic line by naming the insect that will be mankind's Waterloo.

The African tsetse fly, which produces sleeping sickness, threatens mankind with devastation," Dr. Bates said. "We know of no cure for it, which brings sleeping sickness from which victims do not recover."

To show that the tsetse fly's deadly peril is imminent Dr. Bates pointed to a recent death at Crawfordville, Ind., from its sting.

Isolated on the northernmost point of Australia, the family of a telegrapher named Gunn, at Cape York station, claims to be the loneliest in the world. They are cut off from the rest of the continent by impenetrable bush and shark-infested waters. They have few visitors; they have seen only 20 persons in the last three years.

Alberta's Wireless Stations

A report concerning the eight wireless stations in Alberta and in the far north, operated by the department of national defence at Akavik, Herschel Islands, Dawson, Mayo, Tuktoyaktuk, Repulse, Fort Resolution and Edmonton, show the cost of construction of the eight stations to have been $156,358 and that of annual operation $98,258.

Anglo-American Contacts

America's most important contacts are with the British Commonwealth of nations. Its first undertaking in foreign relations should be to make certain that the relations between the United States and the British Commonwealth are on a basis of sound friendship—Kansas City Star.

The man of the hour is the one who was never heard of before today and who will be forgotten tomorrow.

The time is coming, when "Tearpump" "Vision" of the heavens filled with comets, "pilots of the purple twilight dropping down with journals" will be a reality. The United States Army sends 300 planes into the air for manoeuvres. Mail air services over the world. Air-trail lines to avoid flying by night are becoming a regular accommodation. The West Indies from Cuba to Trinidad are linked by airplanes. Shortly the system will be extended through South America to Buenos Aires.

There is a growing demand for planes of all sizes and speeds. Motorizing in the air will be the vogue when the safe machine sought by the Gugonahlin Foundation is ready, designed, President Seth Low, of Roosevelt Field, says that 2,000 persons were taken up in the first two weeks of June, 90 per cent. of them enjoying their first ride. Five of its pilots have flown planes 1,500,000 miles without accident of any kind. It declares that a passenger in an insured machine driven by a licensed pilot is probably safer than would be in a city taxi. Fear of the modern airplane is a state of mind. The accident rate for reputable air services is now too low to furnish an argument against the security of flying.

The world air tour of the De Sillebush crashed and left confounded the double Leaning Tower, last September, in a small De Havilland biplane, a veritable "fiver" of the air, they flew across Europe, over North Africa to Asia Minor, and thence through Persia, India, Burma, and Sicily, and back to England. In the last three years, says Viscount de Sillebush, "by plane, space for long journeys has been made. The Pacific coast by steamship, they flew across the United States to New York, and back to Europe. The mode of travel by steamship, railway and automobile. To promote aviation they should publish an account of their adventures."

To realize the importance of aviation consider the news of one day, the twenty-fifth of June, when "Crocus" and "new" Lindbergh were off from Roosevelt Field on a transcontinental tour to inspect the terminals and landing fields of the new company. Captain Kingsford-Smith went up at Sydney, Australia, with three companions to fly to England. Peruvian army fliers who left New York, May 27, arrived in Lima. A Canadian Deputy Minister of Lands, Mr. Foran, started from Toronto to fly 2,500 miles to take over Indian lands acquired by the Dominion Government. Johnson and Haugland spent their third day in the air in an attempt to break the endurance record. Captain H. G. Hoyt, U.S.A., was preparing to fly from Miami to San Francisco and back in thirty-six hours. New York Times.

Getting the Railway's Goat

Every year there is a contest between the two big railway systems of Canada for what is called the "Railway Goat," the trophy awarded to the winner in the softball tennis made up by the Canadian Pacific and the C.N.R. This year the C.P.R. took it with a score of 18-17, figures which indicate how keenly the contest was fought out. The trophy is now dubbed—for at least a year—the C.N.R. goat and the animal will repose at headquarters of the C.P.R. until it is either lost or retained a the annual gift next year.

WOULD RESUME TRADE RELATIONS WITH SOVIETS

London, Eng.—The British Government this week will forward a communication to the Russian government, which it is hoped will enable a Russian representative to visit London before the end of July, to talk with Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, foreign secretary, on resumption of normal relations between the two countries. It is hoped that understanding will be reached, enabling normal diplomatic machinery to be restored.

Premier Ramsay MacDonald, in the House of Commons recently expressed the opinion that a suitable opportunity would arise in the House soon for debate on the question of resumption of relations with the Soviet government, but added he could give no understanding to postpone action until after such a debate.

The prime minister said that he would consider the question of publishing the correspondence between the British and Dominion governments on the matter, but the stage had not yet been reached where publication was desirable. The dominions would have to be further consulted, he said.

Asked whether Britain would re-new relations with Russia even if the dominions were in agreement, the prime minister said he was unable to make any statement on this point at present.

Sir Austen Chamberlain, former foreign secretary, asked if the House would be entitled to consider whether the Soviet replies were satisfactory before relations were resumed. "No," Premier MacDonald stated. "We will follow the procedure the honorable gentlemen himself always followed."

Hon. Winston Churchill, former chancellor of the exchequer, then suggested that unless the question was debated before the end of the session the matter might be decided and settled before the House had resumed after the short summer vacation.

"As far as the government can settle it," said Mr. MacDonald, "it is the House which will still be able to discuss the matter and decide upon it."

To Form Wheat Pool

Australian Growers Ready To Take
Ballot On Question

Sydney, Australia.—Following a conference with representatives of the wheat growers of the United Kingdom, the Australian wheat industry, the cabinet accepted the recommendations for a ballot among wheat growers on the question of establishing an Australian wheat pool. The conference was in favor of a minimum price of three shillings and six pence a bushel (approximately 60 lbs.) for the first advance from the pool to growers.

It is understood banks are willing to guarantee a certain amount if the pool is formed. The government's share in responsibility for such a guarantee is to be discussed later.

Ottawa Not Informed

No Communication Yet Received Regarding
Imperial Economic Conference

Ottawa, Ont.—The Dominion government has not yet received a communication from the House of Commons in London, asking whether or not it will be possible to hold an imperial economic conference. This was stated by the Department of External Affairs when the attention of the Department was drawn to the statement of Right Hon. Philip Snowden in the British Parliament, that such communications were being sent to the various British Dominions.

No Manoeuvres
London, England.—No manoeuvres or inter-bridge operations will be carried out by the British Army on the Rhine this year. Right Hon. Tom Shaw, Secretary for War, made this announcement in the House of Commons. "The government will not willingly cause either inconvenience or annoyance to the civilian population he said."

American Boat Forfeited

Vessel Will Be Put Up For Sale By Order Of Admiralty Court

Victoria.—The American salmon trolling boat number 557-G.A. was condemned, and declared forfeited to His Majesty by Hon. Mr. Justice Archer Martin, in the Admiralty Court here. The vessel will be put up for sale by Herbert Goggin, Admiralty Commissioner.

The number 557-G.A. was seized May 18, off Pacheena Point on the west coast of Vancouver Island by the Canadian Government Fisheries Protection cruiser, Glenview, and was charged with illegal fishing in British Columbian waters.

H. A. MacLean, K.C., counsel for the owners of the tug 557-G.A., who withdrew from the court proceedings against the boat made a re-appearance in Admiralty Court and entered a consent on behalf of the owners of the vessel to an order for its condemnation.

In the action of the Crown versus the Jeannette, Captain Olf Hansen, master of the fishing vessel which was seized by the Canadian Government Fisheries Protection cruiser, Malaspina, on May 6, last, in Goose Bay about 100 miles north of Alert Bay, told the court that engine trouble experienced, May 4, had caused him to seek anchorage in British Columbian waters.

He said the engine was in need of temporary repairs to the ship's engines.

Officials Find Drugs In Envoys' Boxes

French Customs Examiner Discovers
Cases Contained Heroin and Cocaine

Paris.—French customs officers believe they have uncovered a flagrant violation of the diplomatic immunity to cloak wholesale importation of heroin and cocaine into France. An investigation has been ordered.

The customs examiner's curiosity was aroused by the appearance of four packing-cases addressed to Sir A. G. G. Khan, N. Khan, the Afghan minister in Paris, who has just been appointed ambassador to Moscow.

As the cases were being placed on a train, officials noticed a fine powder escaping through a crack. They took a sample, which proved to be heroin. The cases were all opened and found to contain heroin and cocaine to the value of $33,250.

Introduced To Prince Under Fictitious Title

Woman Guest Crasher At Mansion
House Banquet Had To Leave

London, England.—It was revealed that a woman guest crasher was present at the dinner of the Prince of Wales at a banquet given at the Mansion House in honor of Sir Abe and Lady Bailey.

A 25-year-old young woman of about 25 years arrived at the Mansion House and had herself announced under a fictitious title. She was introduced to the Prince, who shook hands with her and also the guests of honor of the evening.

She might have gone well but the fact that only four women had been officially listed, proved her undoing. She was requested to leave.

The identity of the uninvited guest is unknown.

Japanese Aviator Killed

Started From Los Angeles July
Third, On Trip Around World

Salt Lake City, Utah.—The body of Masashi Goto, 22-year-old Japanese aviator, of Los Angeles, and the wreckage of his aeroplane, were found in a canyon southeast of here. Backed by a rainstorm by Japanese newspapers of the Pacific Coast, Goto had set out July 3, from Los Angeles and had flown to Salt Lake City. The next morning he left the airport here in his small plane and was never seen alive again.

Unemployed In Britain
London, England.—The official registration of unemployed numbered 1,142,400 here on July 1, it was made known recently. This number is 24,908 above the mark of the previous week and 75,750 below the figure for the same period last year.

Record For Panama Canal
Washington, D.C.—The cargo tonnage carried through Panama Canal from the Atlantic to the Pacific in May set a new record for all time with 929,530 long tons. The previous record was set in the previous month—875,641—was in October, 1923.

Western Canada is very much in the glowing limelight this year with both the Canadian Amateur and Western Canada Amateur championships being played over the Jasper Park Lodge course, Jasper National Park, Alberta, August 19-21, inclusive.

Such organization has been necessary to make sure of the success of the tournament, and none have been better than H. B. Harvey, of Winnipeg, president of the Royal Canadian Golf Association (left), and C. W. Jackson, of Winnipeg, president of the Western Canada Golf Association.

GRAIN GROWERS WITHDRAW FROM CO-OP. UNION

Winnipeg.—One of the largest produce marketing corporations in western Canada has indicated definitely that it would withdraw its affiliation from the Co-operative Union of Canada, at the Congress of that body here, when Hon. T. A. Crerar, president of the United Grain Growers, Limited, Winnipeg, replied to charges leveled against the United Grain Growers by delegates from Saskatchewan, that the company "no longer retained its co-operative spirit among the farmers of the western provinces."

A resolution presented by H. W. Ketcheson, Davidson, Sask., chairman of the Resolutions Committee, asking the resignation of the United Grain Growers, Limited, was adopted by the support of several delegates before Hon. Mr. Crerar announced the company's withdrawal from the Co-operative Union.

In speaking of the statement that the United Grain Growers had broken the co-operative method of doing business, Mr. Crerar strongly denied that the company had ever served for its original plan to work for the benefit of the western farmer.

"Our business details have not changed in any detail since 1909 when we started business," Mr. Crerar stated. "The company has always felt a strong co-operative spirit, still does, and always will."

The annual congress was denied the privilege of voting on the resolution to ask for the resignation of the United Grain Growers when Mr. Crerar made his declaration that the firm would withdraw. J. G. Mohl, Edson, Sask., while admitting that the Grain Growers had done a great pioneer work in the co-operative methods throughout Western Canada, was of the opinion that no longer could they term themselves a co-operative concern.

In some of the speeches, Mr. Crerar said, the United Grain Growers is in direct opposition to local co-operative societies.

The only point in which the congress was concerned, said Mr. Ketcheson, in supporting his resolution, was whether the United Grain Growers could be rated a co-operative organization at present. He thought not.

"The people of the west who trade with the U.G.G. are not collecting profits, which by their trade, they make for the company," he declared. "Huge money reserves have been built up but this mass of money is for the shareholders—not the farmers," he added.

Railway Conductors Given Privilege
Ottawa.—The right of the Order of Railway Conductors to confer separately with the Canadian Pacific Railway, western line, for an increase in wage rate, and for the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, was upheld by a report of the Board of Conciliation empowered by Hon. P. E. Hensley, Minister of Labor, to enquire into this matter.

Talkies On Atlantic liners
London, England.—Apparatus for talking pictures is being installed on the Trans-Atlantic liner "Majestic," it was announced here. The "Leviathan" will follow suit in the near future, and all other principal liners will be similarly equipped, it was learned.

SPAKER OF BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS

San Francisco.—A demand that Mrs. Ying Kuo, wife of the Chinese vice-consul in San Francisco, be tried under Chinese law in China and put to death if convicted for her alleged part in bringing a large consignment of opium to this country, was made here by the executive committee of the Kuomintang of America.

It was explained that the National government had enacted stringent laws against trafficking in opium in China and that such laws provided the death penalty in case of their violation by persons connected with the government.

Telegraph System Crosses Canada

Canadian National Boys Western Union Lines in Maritime Provinces

That the Canadian National Telegraph will acquire and operate the complete land mileage of Western Union Telegraphs in the Maritime Provinces of Canada, as from July 1st, was announced recently by W. D. Robb, vice-president in charge of telegraphs and telephone services of the Canadian National Railways, Montreal. Negotiations for the purchase of the Western Union land lines in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, and Prince Edward Island have been under way for some time, fulfillment of this project having been sought by Mr. Robb, and these negotiations were brought to completion by W. G. Barber, general manager of Canadian National Telegraphs.

At the present time, Canadian National Telegraphs have 103,000 miles of wire in service and they operate 1,842 telegraph offices within the Dominion. The acquisition of the Western Union property in Canada will add to this 4,670 miles of wire and 184 offices. In addition to this physical mileage of wire, the Canadian National System has its carrier current channels across the Dominion, on which twelve channels can operate at the same time in each direction, thus obtaining the necessity for thousands of miles of individual mileage of wires.

Up to this time the commercial telegraph business on the lines of the former Intercolonial Railways have been operated by the Western Union Telegraph Company. The purchase of this property by the Canadian National will give to Canadian National Telegraphs complete control of all commercial facilities on the lines of the Canadian National System from Nova Scotia to British Columbia, and thus finally rounds out a complete transcontinental system. A few of the principal cities which will now be served by Canadian National facilities direct are: Halifax, Sydney, New Glasgow, Truro and Yarmouth, in Nova Scotia; Saint John and Moncton in New Brunswick; and Charlottetown, P.E.I.

A Wheat Disease

Disease Known As "Browning" Causes Considerable Loss

A disease known as "Browning" causes considerable losses in wheat fields. It is most readily observed during the seedling stage. This disease is included in a number that come under the head of root-rot that are dealt with in Circular No. 72 of the Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa. The Dominion Botanist, Mr. H. T. Gussow, the author of the Circular, states that the disease of low crop is commonly affected with this disease. When the seedlings are from four to six weeks old the lower leaves suddenly turn brownish and die.

This root-rot generally appears in large patches, and from the appearance of the affected patch the name "Browning" was given. Later in the season the diseased areas show a thin stand of single tiller plants surrounded by an abundant weed growth. While certain parasitic fungi are commonly associated with this trouble, its real cause has not yet been determined. Other root-rot of cereals are described in the Circular which is obtainable from the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa.

An Ancient Fire Engine

The oldest known fire "engine" in England has found a home at the London Museum. It is a large oval wooden tub, and water was pumped through an iron pipe in the middle. It rested originally on a carriage with solid wooden wheels, but these have disappeared. The "engine" was made in London in 1675, for a town in Bedfordshire.

According to some eye specialists, within the next fifty years if not sooner, eight people out of every ten will be wearing spectacles.

Idea Of French Doctor

Blood Transfusion Was First Tried In Sixteenth Century

Blood transfusion, which is the process of injecting into the veins of one person the blood of another, is not, as so many of us believe, a strictly modern innovation of recent medical or surgical science. It has, however, had its greatest development and perfection within the last century.

Peculiarly enough, the orthodox medical treatment for most illnesses was even as late as the sixteenth century—the process of blood letting. However, by 1667, Dr. Jean Baptiste Denys, physician to Louis XIV, of France, had become thoroughly skeptical of the therapeutic value of curing a sickness by removing the blood of a sufferer. It occurred to him that it was more logical to furnish the patient with a fresh supply, rather than to deplete his existing one.

So he tried it out on a child just about dead from repeated bleedings, using lamb's blood. Luckily for his theory, the patient recovered, and the new idea took root. It was not until the nineteenth century, though, that the science of blood transfusion began to achieve its present-day form. Today, of course, it is a common procedure. There are persons who make a practice of it, the blood varying from $20 to $75 a pint.

The Yield Of Raspberries

Methods Used At Experimental Farm At Paris, Described In Bulletin

As much as 200 bushels to the acre of raspberries have been harvested at the experimental farm, at Ottawa. In a planting of the Herbert variety in a row ninety feet in length a crop of 300 bushels per acre was obtained in each of two years. From two shorter rows the three-year average was 228 bushels to the acre. The Red Heritage variety yielded over 175 bushels. The heaviest yield harvested in Ottawa, was at the rate of 310 bushels and 26 pounds, estimating the crop at 32 pounds to the bushel. The average yield per acre in the row 96 feet long. The methods by which these yields were obtained are fully told in a new bulletin numbered 134 of the Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa, entitled "The Raspberry and Its Cultivation in Canada." It is the result of the horticultural division of the experimental farms, the author names among the best yielding varieties Viking, Latham, Newman, and Herbert.

Facts About Toast

Various Names Attached To Staple Article Of Diet

This is surprising to a housekeeper. In America when they desire a certain dessert, you tell the cook to make "French toast," whereas in France you ask for "Spanish toast," and probably in Spain they might not know it under any name and would speak of it as an "American toast." The French also refer to it as "pain perdu," or lost bread, apparently because it offered a means of utilizing stale bread. After it has dipped bread in the batter of egg and milk and fried it to a nice brown, it is served in Paris with sugar sprinkled over it in taste. But the American groceries have maple syrup, which can be recommended to the French housekeeper and which imparts a delicate flavor impossible to get with mere sugar.

The Bill For Ignorance

Cost To Country Is One Billion Dollars Per Year

"Does Ignorance Pay, and What Are Its Profits?" was one of the subjects discussed at the recent meeting of the Ontario Education Association. The President quoted the argument of a bookkeeper that education was best when self-achieved. In opposition, Dr. Sanger, a recognized authority, stated: "A public school boy has only one chance in 9,000 of becoming famous, while a high school boy has one chance in 400, and a university graduate has one chance in 45. The prosperity enjoyed today is 98 per cent. due to co-operative research on the part of graduates of science. The ignorance of laborers costs the country one billion dollars per year."—Toronto Globe.

Rapid Development In West

Many Resources Being Opened Up In Northern Area

There is no question that Western Canada is on the threshold of a new era of development. The first period was the stage of pioneer settlement, when it was actually necessary to prove that agricultural products, and particularly wheat, could be grown on the prairies. Then came the great period of agricultural expansion, when the prairie became the wheat basket of the world. Now the west is expanding. It is becoming an industrial country; it is developing mining in the north; it is opening up many other resources. It is becoming a many-sided country. The next decade should be a great one in Canada and particularly for Northern and Western Canada. The north is coming into its own.

Large Number Of Famous Players Attained Remarkable Age

The attainment of an 80th anniversary by Dame Madge Kendal serves to emphasize the healthiness of acting as a profession. Edmund Kean died at 46, and Garrick at 63, but a remarkable number of famous players of the past exceeded the " allotted span" of three scores and ten. Phelps reached 74; Bateman, 75; Mrs. Siddons and Buckstone, 77; Macready and Ellen Terry, 80; Sir Charles Wyndham, 82; Henry Kendal, 83; Kitty Clive and Mrs. Bracegirdle, 85; Sir Squire Bancroft and Genevieve Ward, 86; Dorton and Vids, 97. The longest lived of all seems to have been Macklin, who died at 107, having lived under five sovereigns and seen 23 administrations rise and fall.

Wealth In Lowly Muskrat

Industry Likely To Become As Popular As Fox Farming

The lowly muskrat is taking a place in the sun. The demand for his fur is growing and the muskrat pond is becoming as popular an investment as was the fox farm a few years ago. The sloughs of the prairies and the swamps of other provinces may soon be producing wealth where formerly they were considered waste places. It will be in spots like these that the Muskrat will be raised. Muskrat companies are being incorporated in many provinces, and a new source of wealth is being put under business control, with fully as good a prospect for the investor as the farm in its early stages.—Lethbridge Herald.

A BEAUTIFUL HOLE

No. 11, Pyramid—395 yards, Par 4.

For the golfer who can carry the liver-hungry bunker in the immediate foreground, this hole is one of the very few which provide a breathing space for those who play the Jasper Park Lodge course, Jasper National Park, Alberta, over which the Canadian and Western Canada Amateur Championships take place August 18-21, this summer.

As the Western Canada tournament is co-incident with the Dominion title event, lots of competitive golf is assured even for those who have high handicaps.

The photograph and the panel show the hole in detail with the yardages as scale below. Tournament play takes place from No. 1 (championship) tee.

Interested In Sheep

Eight-Year-Old R.C. Boy Young Stockman In Canada

Fraser Kenneth MacKenzie, of Sooke, near Victoria, Vancouver Island, is eight years old, and the owner of nine sheep, assembled by his own initiative. He is also a fully accredited member of the Maritime Sheep Breeders' Association, and, as such, is believed by the members to be the youngest real stockman in the Dominion. He is the youngest member of his own family.

When less than five years old, Fraser exchanged a goat kid, that had been given to him by a neighbor, for a ram lamb. This lamb when ready for market was exchanged, after some dickerings with the butcher, for an ewe. In the time the ewe produced two lambs, one of which was also exchanged, when fat for another ewe. These three ewes this spring, brought to the young owner, three pairs of twins. His Scottish ancestry, which is unmistakable from his name, kept him on the job with most happy results.

Fraser's objective is one hundred ewes. To expedite matters he has already arranged for exchanging all his lambs for mature ewes. The MacKenzie holdings are acres of logged-off land which are at his disposal. When other school boys are playing Fraser is busy turning brush and sowing grass seed in accordance with methods approved by experienced sheep men. The future of the sheep industry is safe with such youngsters to promote its interests.

A Good Adventure

I can tramp a stream for miles and never know what it is to feel cold, especially if I am catching fish. I suppose that is the way it is with life generally—we do not tire in the pursuit of things which give us pleasure. Adventure is a great antidote to weariness.

Photo Man: "You must try to enjoy the labors on your staff. The staff will only have the safest foundation of health and happiness."

The Man: "All right, Maria, try you please leave me alone for a few minutes?"

Ford Has Right Idea

Does Not Believe Any Young Should Retire At Sixty

Henry Ford, in the July issue of the Ladies' Home Journal, says he would prefer to see a young man the choice to have all his employees between thirty-five and sixty years of age.

"For them," he adds, "we should have a stable and experienced force. We would not care how much over sixty the men are so long as they could do their work."

"Under no circumstances would we have a working force made up of only young men. It is absolutely necessary, in order to get the work through, to have a solid framework of older and more experienced men to back up the younger men who are doing the work."

"It is not to be expected that a man of seventy will have as much endurance as one of twenty-five. It is not at all necessary that he should have, for by the time a man reaches seventy he has had to have something a great deal more valuable than physical strength."

"The records of the employment departments show that the work which calls for endurance is best served by a rule by men who are forty to sixty years of age. They are tired of jobs of this kind rather quickly and want to be transferred to higher work."

"Having lived a number of years, a great advantage to any one of those years have brought a bank of experience. It is unusual to find a man with such a bank of experience because so many men and women somewhere along in what is called middle age stop trying. They let themselves be old."

The Value Of Sleep

Many Rich Men, Easy Working Men's Ability To Rest

There is a tendency to envy millionaires, or those who have very much money, and to think that they are better off than we are, but there must be many wealthy people who would give nearly every cent they own to change places with one of the plain people. The making of the well man and woman takes sleep for granted. They just tumble into bed and go to sleep quite naturally, and never give thought to the wonder of it; the value of it.

Insomnia is now the worst misfortune of the modern man, and although the body rests, sleep is the sweetest relief of pain of worry. It is a home to the homeless, a friend to the friendless.

The man who has to perform hard physical work, stands the greatest chance of enjoying restful sleep. Physical tiredness will induce sleep, whereas mental tiredness will prevent it. A man who is tired in his brain which simply will not rest.

That is why so many rich men envy the laborers on the farm. They are tired in the body and have the safest foundation of health and happiness.

Sounds Like Strange Advice

Contract Debt If It Is For Something Valuable Says Swift

"Young men, get on your feet." This somewhat strange advice is offered to young men anxious to get ahead in the world, by Louis F. Swift, head of the world's largest mail packing business.

"If the debt is for something of intrinsic value, it is worth while," he says. "As soon as one thing is paid for buy something else and get in debt again. Buy in debt and never get out. Just as long as the debt is not for clothes or drinks or such things, but is for something of real, tangible value, a house or a bond, it is worth while. It is worth saving. 'Save—save something, no matter how little. Get one hundred dollars in hand, get one thousand dollars— you will find the second hundred or second thousand will come much more easily than the first did. The start is the thing!'"

Diplomatic Methods

There was only one thing that the young man had ever done without consulting his parents' wishes. He had married secretly.

So he persuaded a reluctant friend of his school days to break the news. "But," went on the old man, "if you're diplomatic they'll take it all right. Break it to them gently. Tell them I've found and work up gradually."

Dislikes Red Barns

Red, the color that helped build the fountain pen fortune of George W. Parker, is not much of a color in farm buildings, the manufacturer indicated. He has offered to pay about 1,000 Wisconsin farmers one-eighth of the cost of painting their barns red, vidding the barns are painted any color but red.

Wheat Pool And Prices

Somewhat Misleading Information Emanates From Liverpool Paper

An interesting note of mind runs expression in an editorial published by the Liverpool Evening Express under the title "Liverpool Breaks Wheat Pools." As Liverpool merchants, it appears, have forced wheat prices down and smashed the Canadian Pool, it will be news to Canadians that the Pool has gone down for in this country it has been generally understood that its membership is greater than ever. The paper continues jubilantly:

"We congratulate the merchants of Liverpool on their performance. The public will join with us in these expressions of congratulations, because anything that tends to bring down wheat prices is essentially in the public good and it is excellent news to know that the break-up of the Pool has brought prices down to their pre-war level."

The Pool has not broken up, and even if it had, there would be no proof that its break-up was responsible for the collapse of wheat prices far below cost of production level. There is certainly something the matter with the mind which believes that one Canadian marketing organization, handling about half the Canadian wheat crop could hold prices at an artificial level.

There is also something the matter with the mind that believes that it is a good thing that an important commodity like wheat should be selling at pre-war prices, when the general level of prices has increased 60 per cent. in the intervening years.—Mantolva Press Free.

Supporting Tail Plants With Stakes

And Kaffia Prevents Falling To One Side

Many a flower border presents an unsightly appearance when they should be at their best. Many of the taller growing plants fall to one side or the other presenting a tangled appearance. This might all be avoided by supporting the plants. The staking should be done so as to make the plants look as natural as possible. Thin stakes, stamens or painted green, are the best to use and perhaps the best thing material is raffia. It is strong and is easily procurable at seed stores. In a new bulletin on "Herbaceous Perennials," No. 133, of the Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa, Miss Isabella Preston, the author, suggests using for a clump of tall asters and similar plants, three or four fairly strong canes, such as bamboo, which should be pressed firmly into the ground at even distances from the plants and then the raffia or twine on the canes so as to make a ring around the plants. The stakes should never come as high as the flowers except when needed to prevent the bloom breaking.

Might Mean Anything

A lady of independent means was before the magistrate charged with shoplifting.

"Young man, get on your feet." This somewhat strange advice is offered to young men anxious to get ahead in the world, by Louis F. Swift, head of the world's largest mail packing business.

Still Going Strong

An eighty-one-year-old clown who used to delight audiences at circuses and the old-fashioned pantomimes now performs his old tricks every evening before the queues at a Liverpool theatre. His name is Joey Duff, and no one would imagine his years from the agility with which he springs.

SYNOPSIS

Marcus, the famous Broadway producer, heads a party of four that visits Blackie Joe's night club in downtown New York. Blackie Joe, chief comedian and singing waiter, takes the order for her. Grace, the cigarette girl, is in love with Al, but he doesn't know it. As he returns with the beer he encounters Molly, the ballad singer, whom he loves ardently. He begs her to sing a song he has just written. Molly, he tells Molly that the great Marcus is coming to see him. When Al rushes back to her dressing room the referee even to read his song. He sees it on the floor under her feet!

CHAPTER IV

Al could scarcely believe his eyes—his song, the heart-throb ballad he had poured forth from the depths of his soul, lying on the floor unnoticed, under Molly's sharp and careless heel!

He raised his gaze as he felt Molly about to sweep by him. Scarcely knowing what he was doing, he seized the angry girl in his arms, pulling her close to him, staring beseechingly into her eyes. She tried to pull away, but his grip of steel held her.

"Molly!" he pleaded. "Didn't you even read it?"

Again Molly tried to escape, succeeding this time. If she had been angry before she was blushing now.

"How dare you try to stop me! I told you I had important business some idiot—you've almost ruined my make-up!"

She returned to her dressing table and began dusting her arms and shoulders with powder. On the lapels and sleeves of Al's coat were the heavy white marks of the powder. But he did not notice them, nor did he hear her words. Slowly he stooped over, like a man in a dream, picking up his song. He saw the sharp print of Molly's steel-rimmed heel across the music. It had almost cut through the paper, and he stared at it for a long moment.

It was as if that little heel had cut into his heart.

Again she headed for the door, carrying the correcting. Then she realized that Al was following her and she turned about, determined to settle him once and for all. Her blue eyes were glittering and her voice had a rasping, harsh quality.

"Al Stone, get this through your head. I won't have anything to do with you. I'm not going to marry you or any other waiter!"

With vitriolic sarcasm she emphasized the word "waiter." She was with a flirt of her skirts she disappeared down the corridor. A moment later she was in the main room and had forgotten Al entirely, for she saw the figure of Marcus, czar of the Broadway revues, with his party at the ringette table across the dance floor.

At once her manner and expression changed. The calculating glint in her eyes was masked by a soft, bright, friendly look; her body, which had been rigid with anger a moment before, relaxed so that she moved toward the Marcus table with an easy, sensuous walk. She was a very pretty girl at that moment, as Molly had believed her features had been distorted by rage just a moment before; no one would have dreamed that she was so lovely so cruelly as she had just treated Al. But Molly was burning with ambition and she saw in Al's love-lorn man who would be a hindrance to her in her climb toward fame. So she treated him ruthlessly, not because he failed her, but because he got in her way. Her feeling toward him was neither love nor hate, it was just indifference. If he had been rich, powerful or socially distinguished, Molly would have played up to him like a soft and affectionate kitten. But he wasn't.

Meanwhile, there sat Marcus, fifty feet away, chatting amiably with his companions and occasionally sending a bored glance toward the cabaret stage that was in progress on the main floor a few feet from him. Molly studied his face and began to plan her course of action.

"I don't like to make him like me," she whispered sotto to herself, "baby stuff or a more sophisticated line. He looks so sophisticated himself, so maybe the baby stuff will go better. Remember, Molly darling, that man can make you a star on Broadway if he likes you. But where—"

She cut short her unspoken alibi to look about for Blackie Joe's smiling introduction to her as Marcus. Finally, she located him talking to some customers. She moved over to his side.

"He looked up."

"You know," she said significantly, "I'd like to meet him before I do my songs. Then he'll be more interested in watching my side him."

"Wise little girl," said Blackie, patting her on the arm. "Yes, I know. I'll give you a knockdown right now."

He took her by the hand and led her toward the Marcus table. She saw Marcus's eyes rise to meet hers, then Marcus himself was standing in response to Blackie's genial introduction. As if from a distance she heard Blackie's voice: "Mr. Marcus, this is one of my most talented performers. Molly, may I present the most celebrated producer and picker of pretty girls on Broadway?"

Marcus smiled and courteously made way for Molly to sit down beside him. Then Marcus himself was standing in response to Blackie's genial introduction. As if from a distance she heard Blackie's voice: "Mr. Marcus, this is one of my most talented performers. Molly, may I present the most celebrated producer and picker of pretty girls on Broadway?"

As if from a distance she heard Blackie's voice: "Mr. Marcus, this is one of my most talented performers. Molly, may I present the most celebrated producer and picker of pretty girls on Broadway?"

"There's a girl," thought Molly, "Marcus is making a mistake. I'll say she looks like money, yet she's no prettier than I am. This man can put me on the map, too."

But at the moment it certainly appeared as if Marcus hadn't the slightest intention of helping Molly. In fact it seemed as if he had forgotten her presence entirely.

Meanwhile, the singing waiter, whose love she had flouted, paced the corridor leading to Molly's dressing room. For a moment he stopped and stared at the crumpled song-sheet he held in his hand, his face the picture of dejection. Outside were the symphonic rattle from the jazz band and the staccato beats of a pair of tap dancers in action, but the only sound that echoed in Al's ears came from Molly's parting words. They seemed to reverberate through his whole body, like the dirge to his hopes and love. At last he realized completely that his chance of winning Molly was an utterly lost cause.

Dull despair crept over him and the sheet of music slipped from his unresting hands. Mechanically, and without knowing what he was doing, he stooped and picked it up. Then the light of the song across the top caught his eye—"Always."

"Always"—what a beautiful word to write a song like that, fondly believing it would touch her heart and that she would share his love and his joy! It swiftly he crumpled the song-sheet in his fist, as if to wipe the memory of its creation!

In the distance, from a corner of the main room, Grace, the cigarette girl, was watching him sympathetically and idly. She had seen him talking to Molly. Vaguely she sensed the cause of his despair.

But Grace, loving him generously, thought of him as a friend, not as a rival. She was not a girl, but only of some way to help Al in this time of trouble. Al, the gay, wide-cracking, singing waiter, had lost his job and money. Al, of the kindly, handsome mouth, of the deep, warm, glowing brown eyes, Al, who had been her friend and confidant, was suffering. She knew he didn't love her and considered her only a sweet child, but that didn't matter.

Giving a quick glance around, Grace stepped into the corridor and approached him on tiptoe. Al felt a light touch on his sleeve and heard a soft, sympathetic voice at his shoulder. He gave a start, thinking, a mad burst of hope that it might be Molly. Then he looked down into Grace's eyes.

"What's the matter, Al?"

The Value Of Power

Lower the Price and It Becomes More Valuable

Paradoxical as it may seem the measure of the value of power is its cheapness. Low priced power diminishes the cost of production of manufactured goods both for home consumption and export and in some of the industries, such as pulp and paper, electro-chemical, mining, smelting, etc., it is the controlling factor in location. A conspicuous example is the erection of the world's largest aluminum works at the great water powers of the Saguenay river in Quebec.

Superstitions About the Moon

Making Good Progress

Irish Free State Can Now Challenge Farm Products Of Other Nations

Canadians are in a position to congratulate the citizens of the Irish Free State. The latter have brought their financial year to a close with a surplus of $70,000, and no fresh tax has been levied on the people since 1919. The Government, moreover, is making determined efforts to attract trade. A steam yacht registered in the Free State has been produced on Irish soil. The vessel also paid visits to Liverpool and Cardiff to show the people there what Ireland can sell them.

This is in accord with the progressive movement begun last year to popularize home grown products from Ireland—principally those connected with agriculture. The efforts to raise and standardize quality, and to increase output are being attended with distinct success. There was room for improvement, as the Ministry admitted, but the strict regulations laid down by the Government have been productive of highly beneficial results.

The former careless, haphazard methods of the farmer are today largely a thing of the past. Moreover, the raising of stock standard has been followed by improvements in the quantity of produce. Today the Free State is challenging with confidence the farm produce of other nations so far as ham, butter, eggs and bacon are concerned. The food exhibition now in British waters will help to drive this fact home. It is not a new idea, but it is a new, happy, when opportunity arises.

Defeated By Narrow Margin

Canada's Diamond Sculls Winner Beaten By Holland Oarsman

Lois, of Holland, is this year's winner of the Diamond Sculls emblematic of the amateur rowing championship of the world. In the final, over the famous course at Henley-on-Thames, England, he defeated Joe Wright, Jr., of Toronto, Canada's premier oarsman. In the final, over the famous course at Henley-on-Thames, England, he defeated Joe Wright, Jr., of Toronto, Canada's premier oarsman. In the final, over the famous course at Henley-on-Thames, England, he defeated Joe Wright, Jr., of Toronto, Canada's premier oarsman.

Wright was the Diamond Sculls winner last year, and he has come within an ace of winning the great award three years in succession. In 1927 he was robbed of the honor by a "fluke"; this year he was beaten by only a yard, and after there had been an exceptionally severe demand upon his strength and stamina in preliminary contests. He has established himself as one of the greatest rowers this country has produced, ranking with Hanlan and Scholes, also of Toronto. Still in his early twenties, he has a good chance to win the Sculls again.

Britain leads the world in the fame of its sculling events, and every community in this country which has a suitable body of water should endeavor to foster rowing. It is one of the noblest of sports—wholesome, fascinating and altogether worthwhile.—Regina Daily Post.

New Canadian Record

Official Altitude Record Of 26,000 Feet Made By Special Pilot

Captain J. D. Parkinson, special pilot of the Curtiss-Led Flying Services, Ltd., Montreal, established an official Canadian altitude record of 20,000 feet in a cabin monoplane. He carried a sealed barograph.

The previous Canadian record was 18,000 feet, established by Captain Leigh Capel in a Moth plane. Captain Parkinson's flight occupied one hour and 28 minutes, of which one hour and two minutes was occupied in the climb upwards.

When Food Sours

About two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-taxed. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali. It neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, a tasteless dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient, and harmless. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention. It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved laxative. You will never use anything else when you know.

It is the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any druggist.

Don't Let Foods Stale

Foods that ordinarily stale quickly will stay fresh and tempting a surprisingly long time if you cover them with Para-Sani Heavy Waxed Paper. Your grocer, druggist or stationer has Para-Sani in the handy, sanitary, one-eighths sized carton. For those who prefer a lighter paper put up in sheet form ask for Apples' 'Centre Park' Packs.

NOT only is Pontiac a BIG Six, with the power which you would expect a Big Six to possess, but this power is always under the immediate and easy control of the driver. Touch the accelerator and the great surge of power from Pontiac's Big dynamically-balanced Six-cylinder engine, developed by the famous GMR high-compression head, whisks you out in front of the traffic line. Touch the brake pedal, and instantly Pontiac's big, internal-expanding, protected brakes bring you to a smooth, silent stop. Take a trial ride in Pontiac and discover for yourself that Big Six quality, beauty and performance have definitely entered the low-priced field.
